*We are proud to dedicate
the 1994 Gray Matter to:*

Dr. Michael R. Lawless

Associate Dean for Student Affairs

Associate Professor of Pediatrics

Bowman Gray School of Medicine

Dean Lawless is an ideal role model for students from many standpoints. He works hard on our behalf within the administration and is easily available for the many problems that arise for us. He is also the consummate clinical physician. Those of us who rotated at Reynolds Health Center in Pediatrics saw him deal with difficult clinical situations and patients. With his thoughtful approach, he has the ability to be compassionate when needed, firm when needed, always keeping foremost in his mind the special needs of the disadvantaged children seen there. He emphasizes the importance of the proactive role for the primary care physician, especially with immunizations and safety issues. His strength as a teacher lies in his patience and respect for students — challenging our limitations while encouraging us to think and apply the diagnostic skills we have acquired. As a lecturer, his classes were well organized, informative and pitched to our level. He made learning easy and fun.

A native Texan, Dean Lawless attended the University of Texas at Austin. He graduated from the Medical School at the University of Texas in Galveston in 1968. He joined the faculty of Bowman Gray in the Department of Pediatrics in 1974. At Reynolds Health Center he has served as Medical Director and currently is the Director of Pediatrics there.

In addition to his busy professional life, Dean Lawless is an avid outdoor sportsman and is active in church and community affairs. He volunteers his spare time to run the prequalifier state tennis tournament. He and his wife of 26 years, Sandee, are the proud parents of two grown daughters.

But what stands out about Dean Lawless to students who have worked with him in his fair-mindedness and gentlemanly demeanor, his encouragement of learning and his ability to elicit the best from his students. In his patient manner, he is always willing to lend a sympathetic and knowledgeable ear. We are proud to dedicate the 1994 Gray Matter to him for his efforts in shaping us into good physicians.

Where We Came From . . .

Wake Forest Medical School opened in 1902 in Wake County with 13 students; Abraham Flexner, in his historic 1910 report, praised the small school. In 1939 the will of Bowman Gray, CEO of R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., donated money to establish a medical school in Winston-Salem. In 1941 the Wake County Medical School moved to Winston-Salem with 72 students and joined Baptist Hospital (established in 1923 by the NC Baptist State Convention) to become the 69th academic medical center in the nation. In 1959 the Gray Building is named in honor of James A. Gray, president of RJR, who established a $1.7 million trust for the school. Watlington Hall is named in honor of John F. Watlington, President of Wachovia Bank, who funded a major rebuilding program.

Today, NCBH is the largest hospital in western North Carolina with 806 beds and 21 state-of-the-art surgery suites. AirCare, a helicopter emergency medical service is part of NCBH's designation as a Level One trauma center. NCBH recently added a PET scanner to its MRI Center.

Under Dr. Richard Janeway, BGSM now ranks in the top third in NIH research funding, with $61 million in grants in 1993. Hanes Research Building devotes 130,000 sq. ft. to research and has 92 labs. BGSM has a long history of research in three areas: atherosclerosis, cancer and stroke, and now is a Vanguard Center for the Women's Health Initiative. The Center for the Neurobiological Investigation of Drug Abuse is studying the basis of substance abuse.

In 1993, construction of the J. Paul Stricht Center on Aging and Rehabilitation was begun. With $9 million in federal support, the new Center for Research on Human Nutrition and Chronic Disease Prevention will double the amount of research space available by 1995.

Mentor-led tutorials in specially equipped viewing rooms

The innovative Parallel Curriculum departs from the traditional lecture format and offers a problem-based approach. Since 1987, medical students in this track work in small tutorial groups led by faculty mentors, using clinical cases to learn the basic sciences. They also gain clinical skills working in primary care sites. Headed by Dr. Chip Celestino, the program is only one of seven in the country.

Dr. Lucile Hutaff and Dr. Coy Carpenter, circa 1950

Dr. Katherine Anderson (1909-1978), on the Pediatric faculty for 33 years, was the first woman elected President of the Forsyth County Medical Society. She developed these Physician Assistant program and was its Medical Director. Dr. Ruth O'Neal (1915-1990), on the Pediatric faculty since 1948, brought national attention to the health needs of disadvantaged children, and founded the BG child abuse team and the Battered Women's Shelter. Dr. Lucile Hutaff (1912-1987) of the Department of Medicine and Pathology was BGSM's first full-time female faculty member in 1945. She was best known for her meticulous research in blood coagulation.

1963 Demon Docs basketball team

Under the guidance of "Cotton" Morris, the Medical School was well represented in the City League of basketball. In the first half of the season the team won eight of ten games and in the second half won ten of twelve games played. This placed the team in second place at the end of 1946.

Charles B. Clark Memorial Award For Outstanding Service to the Senior Class

Cam E. Enarson, M.D.

For devoted and energetic service to the Class of 1994, we proudly honor Dr. Cam Enarson. Cam was the first faculty mentor assigned to a class at Bowman Gray and he has set a high standard for others to meet. He has been a tireless link between our class and the administration. He and his wife Carol hosted numerous social events at their home, helping us celebrate the good and smooth over the bad moments of medical school. Most recently, Cam gave advice on residency applications and was always available to answer last minute questions.

Most importantly, Cam is the kind of sincerely unselfish person who, if you were stuck in the desert and out of gas, you could call in the middle of the night and he'd be there. Thanks Cam for everything!

Award for Teaching Excellence

Peter B. Smith, Ph.D.

Chairman of Unit I and Director of the Biochemistry course, Dr. Peter B. Smith has been given the Award for Teaching Excellence for 1994. Dr. Smith's metabolism lectures are one of the high points of the first year of medical school. Known for his wit and easy accessibility, he has the ability to take complex concepts and make them simple. He was given the Award for Teaching Excellence in 1980, and has received the Basic Science Teaching Award in 1979, 1985, 1986, 1987 and 1988. He also serves on the Committee for Medical Education and is the Liaison for Student Rights.

Dr. Smith received his Ph.D. in Microbiology from the University of Tennessee (Knoxville) in 1973 and has been on the BGSF faculty since 1976. He is also Associate in the Department of Neurology at Duke. He has published numerous articles in his areas of research: selective toxicity and enzyme systems involved in bioactivation.

He has amply earned the respect and appreciation of all the medical students, as one of our most outstanding teachers.

Match Day

March 16, 1994

The culmination of four years of hard work — the day we learned where our futures lie.
Many thanks to Dr. June May and the Office of Student Affairs

MedBowl IV

The annual basketball game between NCBH and Forsyth County Memorial Hospital benefits the local Crisis Control Ministry's free pharmacy. This year's contribution was an impressive $160,000. Physicians and faculty make up the MedBowl teams — all in great fun!

Medical Alumni Association

The Medical Alumni Association sponsors many much-appreciated events and services for medical students. Beginning with the 1990 Pool Party during Orientation with special T-shirts (remember "Pool it while you School it"?), MAA has distributed numerous complimentary tickets to symphonies, theater, opera and the Shakespeare Festival. They honored the Second Years with a coffee reception following the Fall Convocation. MAA provided dinner for hungry and tired students during the Boards, Parts I and II, and refreshments during these exams. MAA helped raise over $600,000 to establish the ever-popular Student Life and Fitness Center which has done so much to improve our stressful lives. Candy that was often found in the study room prior to important exams came from MAA. The stolen microwave oven in the student lounge was replaced by MAA. Survival guides and the indispensable patient cards and telephone cards came from MAA. The biennial Parents Weekend is sponsored by MAA. And, in our last year, MAA hosts the annual reception following the Hooding Ceremony.

The energetic staff of MAA is headed by Beth Ridgill, along with Terri Welfare, Tracy Simpson, Diane Garrett and Donna Sizemore. These women have answered the needs of the medical students on many occasions and have worked hard to promote communication with the Medical School administration and faculty, house staff and parents. Bowman Gray is lucky to have such a devoted Alumni Association.

NCBH Department of Pastoral Care

The School of Pastoral Care is the oldest training program of its kind in the South. The first class graduated from NCBH in 1947 and it is now one of the largest centers in the world. Among its many divisions, the Division of Chaplaincy and Pastoral Education trains chaplains to provide ecumenical care to hospital in-patients and conduct support groups for out-patients. The Division trains at least 70 students a year and is certified by the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education. They provide intensive training in counseling and other therapeutic skills for ministers to help persons with their emotional and spiritual growth. During their intern and residency training they are "on-call" day and night to minister to the spiritual needs of patients of whatever belief system.

Students of the Clinical Pastoral Education program.

Middle row: Mark Jensen (supervisor), Maurice DeFoor, Pascal Devaux, Marlene Harrell, Amy Karriker. Right: Bruce Hill, Linda Beal, George Bowman (supervisor), Bill DeLong (supervisor), Anna Nobeck (supervisor-in-training), and Sharon Engebretson (supervisor).

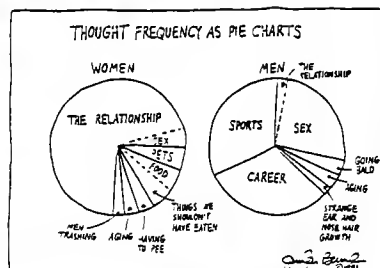

Student chaplains, School of Pastoral Care (early 1960s)

The Pastoral Counseling Center provides highly qualified counselors of many psychological approaches for students, employees and the community at large. What is unique in their psychological training is the emphasis on the spiritual dimension of health and disease. Certified by the American Association of Pastoral Counselors they also serve as a training site for pastoral counselors.
